EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS ADJUST TO PRESENT NEEDS

Party and government policy dictates the improvement of occupational skills among urban workers and the maintenance of public and private schools and teachers. Municipal governments are taking various steps to implement this policy.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS TO GET AID -- Tientsin, Chin-pu Jih-pao, 5 Sep 50

There seem to be unreported gaps in the figures in this item. 7

The Tientsin People's government, to give wide application to the policy of similar treatment to both public and private institutions, has decided to aid private schools which maintain high standards and are in financial difficulties. For this year, 460,000 catties of millet have been assigned for this purpose, to be allocated by the Bureau of Education. To help students in schools whose laboratory equipment is poor, four laboratories have been set up at a cost of 16,000 catties, leaving 30,000 for eight schools considered as worthy of help. These are now receiving varying amounts totaling 240,000 cattles, leaving 60,000 to be distributed next term.

UNEMPLOYED TEACHERS ENROLL IN TRAINING CLASS -- Hong Kong, Hsin-sheng Wan-pao, 2 Nov 50

Communist officials in Canton are trying to help the unemployed of various occupations. Last week a training class was started for unemployed teachers, with 187 enrolled. The total number of unemployed teachers in Canton is more than 1,200.

TRAINING MEDIUM SKILL TECHNICIANS -- Tientsin Jih-pao, 10 Aug 50

٢

To meet the large and pressing need for semiskilled workers, the Tientsin Board of Education has decided to enlarge the present municipal industrial and finance schools, adding more courses in the manual arts and bringing the number of students up to 450-480. The industrial school is also adding short courses in drawing and surveying, and the finance school is adding courses in accounting and statistics. No fees are charged, and other aid is given in case of need. Public funds are available for children of those who were killed in war and party services.
